

Members of the North Carolina State University flower judging team are (left to right): Dan Lineberger, Connie Lawrence and Betty Wise. Joe Love, far right, served as coach.

N. C. STATE FLOWER JUDGING TEAM SECOND

Eleven universities participated in the 28th annual Inter-collegiate Flower Judging Contest that was held at Colorado State University. This year's contest was won by Washington State University. The North Carolina team placed a close second being nosed out by a total of thirty-seven points.

The contest was sponsored by the Society of American Florists and the National Honorary Floriculture Fraternity, Pi Alpha Xi. Ken Goldsberry, Colorado State University professor, was chairman of the contest and did a remarkable job. In addition to running a smooth contest, Ken provided several excellent tours of the Colorado floral industry for both students and coaches.

* * * * *